Leaters in Metropolitan League Series Play a Drawn Game.

With the end of the season near at hand cricketers made the most of their opportunities vesterday and games were played at Williamsbridge, Prospect Park, Bensonhurst and Newark. The match between the two leaders in the local championshp series of the Metropolitan League was played at Williamsbridge and resulted in a drawn

The contending elevens were the Staten Islands and the Columbia Ovals, and the latter team on winning the toss played so carefully that it took them two hours and seventeen minutes to run un 100, at which time they declared their imminus closed for the loss of seven wickets. With no possible chance of winning the visitors went to the bat and had secred 36 for the loss of two wickets when time was called a very even draw B. Kortling made top score of the game in an excellent not out innings of 38. A. Dovey and J. N. Escobal came next, each scoring 13, but the others were unable to do much with the bowling and none of them reached double figures. For Staten Island E. H. L. Steinthal played a good not out innings of 18 and appeared to be well set when the game ended. The best bowling of the day was accomplished by A. G. Laurie, whose fast deliveries proved destructive to three batsmen at a cost of 19 runs.

The West Indians played a strong game against the Jamaicans at Prospect Park and added by splendid batting on the part of F. Hinds were enabled to pass their opponents' score with but three wickets down, S. Alleyne was associated with Hinds for a long time. The totals were: Jamaicans, 97. West Indians, 115 for 3 wickets.

The Brooklyns went to Branch Brook Park, Newark, to play a championship game in the Metropolitan league series with Montclair

West Indians, 115 for 3 wickers.

The Brooklyns went to Branch Brook Park, Newark, to play a championship game in the Metropolitan league series with Montclair and treated their opponents to an afternoon of leather hunting, and then disposed of them for the small score of 14 runs. The feature of the day splay was the brilliant batting of J. L. Pover and the useful stand by Pover and J. Bodgers for the sixth wicket. Rodgers made 19 and Pover continued his inning and was not out at the close, with 71 to his credit. He also was instrumental in the downfall of three Montclair wickets at a cost of 5 runs, while H. Rushton captured a like number at a cost of 7 runs. The totals were: Brooklyn, 130; Montclair, 14.

A close game and an exciting finish marked the match between Bensonhurst Thistles B and the Columbia Oval B teams in a second section league contest at Williamsbridge. The victory went to the visitors by the narrow margin of one run, and the bowling of B. L. McCallun and O. Waithe bad much to do with this result. McCallum's record was 6 wickets for 27 runs, while Waithe captured 4 for 40. The former also got top score of the game in an innings of 23, and the only other double figure scorer was C. F. Denton, who contributed 15. The totals were Bensonhurst Thistles B, 75; Columbia Oval B, 74. The Wander-res lost a good game to McClellan's team at Prospect Park by 8 runs. J. D. McClellan, the captain, was responsible for 31, while W. P. Charles had contributed 14 when he was run out. On the losing team J. S. Mahon, C. Laurie and W. Adam scored 15, 14 and 12 not out respectively.

Tilting Tourney, Sailing and Paddling Races at Bensonhurst.

There was all sorts of fun at the thirtyseventh annual regatta of the New York Canoe Club yesterday afternoon and the cosey clubhouse at Bensonhurst was well filled with the friends of the members. There were sailing and paddling races, a tailend race which is a most heartbreaking affair and a tilting tournament.
Chairman B. V. R. Speidel, who is chairand a tilling tournament.

Chairman B. v. R. Speidel, who is chairman of the regatta committee, had to be at the regatta of the Atlantic Yacht Club, but he had several aides who ran things off in good shape. There was to have been a sailing race for decked canoes, but that event fell through and the sport began with a sailing race for open canoes, which was won by O. H. Sawyer. W. V. Robinson offered a prize for open canoe tandem paddling, and this was won by A. M. Poole. About fourteen started in the tail end race and several were upset, and other pirouetted in trying were upset, and other pirouetted in trying to reach the finishing line. G. P. Douglas won. In the tilting contest Robinson, who was puddling for Roloff, who tilted, in some unaccountable way fell into the water and thus gave the victory to Shroyer and Poole. summaries M minutes.

PERSON ..... The See Yorks brussed on arid postures in one game with the Philadelphias centerday, but in the second were in a land of milk and a run in the second they made rune in plenty, ance of fallies in the second and swatted the progeny of William Ponn. The Quakers went through both games without an error and in the first the bursten of the fielding was carried by Edward Grant, L.L. B. late or Harvard, and William Dahlen, S. S., late of Brooklyn, and still of that habitation in steeping hours, exterminating one man of the plate and sometching Doolin with a wizard catch. Magges made a brace of brilliant plays in the seventh, his fast work on Seymour's hit reducing what would have been a triple to a single. There was more smart fielding in the ninth when the New Yorks had two on bases and none out. One of these, Browne, was thrown out at the plate by Knabe.

The second game was a contrast because it was generous in hitting. Sparks was made to realize that effectiveness in the box is a mutable asset at the best, and for a change he was bumped good and hard. On hitting by Thomas, Knabe and Courtney the Philadelphias made two runs in the third inning and would have done better but for Sevmour's slashing catch of Magge's stinger Strang. Shannon and Devin feil against the ball with sufficient vigor to clean up two runs in New York's half of the third. The New York's stole three bases in this finning.

The fourth was a throbbing period on New York's part. Dablen singled, Strang doubled, Shannon uncovered a one timer and Browne curved a home run into the right field parquet. As the sew Yorks made two more runs in the fifth it was all off for the Philadelphias, though hitting by Thomas, Knabe, Grant and Doolin sent in three runs in the seventh. The scores.

BROOKLYN, 3; BOSTON (N. L.), i—FIRST GAME.

By blanking the Bostons in fifteen out of sixteen innings yesterday the Brooklyns won two games. In the first game of nine innings the Doves made one run; in the second game of seven innings they did not make any. Pastorius and Dorner kept the hitting at a low ebb in the first game, but the Brooklyns bunched hits nicely in the first ioning. Boston's batting was still more flimsy in the second game, and the Tenney tribesmen could not do anything with Doc Scanlan.
